

United States Department of State

*Bureau of Political-Military Affairs
Directorate of Defense Trade Controls*

Washington, D.C. 20522-0112

In Reply Refer to
DDTC Case CJ 702-09

JAN 25 2010

YOUR LETTER DATED: November 9, 2009

COMMODITY JURISDICTION DETERMINATION FOR:
Family of Electromagnetic Interference (EMI) Shielding Products

Your commodity jurisdiction (CJ) request was referred to the Departments of Defense and Commerce for review and recommendations. The items are used to limit the level of radiated electromagnetic energy from entering or leaving a box, housing, or enclosure containing electrical/ electronic equipment, including ships, tanks and airplanes. This family includes EMI bonding gaskets attached to rubber elastomer extensions, EMI connector seals, and shielded honeycomb air vent filters. Production technologies for these items are widely available internationally, they have widespread commercial and military applications.

The Department of State has determined that the Family of Electromagnetic Interference (EMI) Shielding Products is not subject to the licensing jurisdiction of the Department of State. The Department of Commerce (DOC) advises the items are classified as EAR99. Please consult the DOC Office of Exporter Services at 202 482-4811 to determine requirements prior to export.

Should you not concur with this determination and have additional facts not included in the original submission, you may submit a new CJ request. If you do not concur with this determination and have no additional facts to present, then you may request that this determination be reviewed by the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Defense Trade.

Continued on Page Two

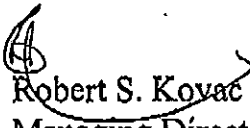

George Kunkel
Spira Manufacturing Corporation
12721 Saticoy Street South
North Hollywood, CA 91605

Page Two

In Reply Refer to
DDTC Case CJ 702-09

Should you require further assistance on this matter, please contact
Frederick ("Tad") F. Monroe at MonroeFF@state.gov or 202 663-2748.

Sincerely,

Robert S. Kovac
Managing Director

United States Department of State

*Bureau of Political-Military Affairs
Directorate of Defense Trade Controls*

Washington, D.C. 20522-0112

May 9, 2012

Mr. George Kunkel
Spira Manufacturing Corporation
12721 Saticoy Street South
North Hollywood, CA 91605

Dear Mr. Kunkel:

Per our telephone conversation of yesterday, accompanying this letter via fax is a copy of the final determination letter regarding CJ 702-09 in which the items covered, a Family of Electromagnetic Interference (EMI) Shielding Products, were classified as CCL EAR99. As long as the products incorporated as commodities in your originally determined Commodity Jurisdiction Request, CJ 702-09, remain exactly the same, without any modification, the determination in our letter date stamped January 25, 2010 will stand.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Frederick F. Monroe".

Frederick F. Monroe, Ph.D.
Senior Defense Trade Analyst
XL Associates Contractor to
Directorate of Defense Trade Control
PM/ISN/DTCP